

Emily Donato

Create a Mythic Storyboard

Choose one of the following (or one of your own!) realities to explain with your myth. Write and illustrate a story board with at least 3 parts. Explain why:

- day & night
- sunset
- leaves change
- sky is blue
- grass is green
- volcanos erupt
- thunder
- lightning
- birds fly
- fish swim
- bees sting
- moon changes
- snow
- rain
- tide
- people die & are born
- hurricanes
- many languages

1. The way it was there was no day or night. there were no lightness + no darkness. Creatures lived in the same blank arena, without change. there was no schedule of sleep + awake.

2. How it came to be a beam of heat became to the earth's atmosphere + caused a ball of never ending fire to occur. The creatures called it the sun. The sun became to over bearing + would get tired of shining, so the creatures created the moon from the reflection of the sun on the surface of the ocean. The sun + moon were complete opposites, and took turns in lighting the world for all creatures.

3. The way it is

Now, the sun + moon come and leave every twelve hours. The moon is in charge of sleep + darktime, and the sun is in charge of awakesness + light. They give all living creatures time to rest, and time to play.

Create a Mythic Storyboard

Choose one of the following (or one of your own!) realities to explain with your myth. Write and illustrate a story board with at least 3 parts. Explain why:

- day & night
- sunset
- leaves change
- sky is blue
- grass is green
- volcanos erupt
- thunder
- lightning
- birds fly
- fish swim
- bees sting
- moon changes
- snow
- rain
- tide
- people die & are born
- hurricanes
- many languages

1. The way it was

In the beginning, there was one constant time across the earth. The same amount of light and dark.

2. How it came to be

Day and Night use to be in love, but Night upset Day, and day decided to run away.

3. The way it is

And Now Night chases day and the light and time constantly changes on earth.

Chris
Schlosser

Create a Mythic Storyboard

Choose one of the following (or one of your own!) realities to explain with your myth. Write and illustrate a story board with at least 3 parts. Explain why:

- day & night
- sunset
- leaves change
- sky is blue
- grass is green
- volcanos erupt
- thunder
- lightning
- birds fly
- fish swim
- bees sting
- moon changes
- snow
- rain
- tide
- people die & are born
- hurricanes
- many languages

1. The way it was

The sky used to be dark and black. Everyone was cold & had a hard time seeing. But they used fire to make up for it.

2. How it came to be

A great soldier shot a huge fire arrow in the sky & it hit a rock & made the sun light up & showed the sky was blue.

3. The way it is

The sky is blue because of the sun reflecting off the ocean.

Create a Mythic Storyboard

Choose one of the following (or one of your own!) realities to explain with your myth. Write and illustrate a story board with at least 3 parts. Explain why:

- day & night
- sunset
- leaves change
- sky is blue
- grass is green
- volcanos erupt
- thunder
- lightning
- birds fly
- fish swim
- bees sting
- moon changes
- snow
- rain
- tide
- people die & are born
- hurricanes
- many languages

1. The way it was

The world was a gray, no color, however no darkness, a middle ground, people had nothing to distinguish any point of the "day".

2. How it came to be

The world was glum, with no color or darkness. The people, all but 2, were grey & had no color one, a girl as light as the sun, the other, a man, dark as night. They fell madly in love, they spent every day together. The gods saw this as an opportunity to please the people. They separated them and used them as day and night.

3. The way it is

Now with day & color in the sky, day rules the day & when day & night finally see each other, they sky lights up with brilliant colors only to go away when night comes.

Create a Mythic Storyboard

Choose one of the following (or one of your own!) realities to explain with your myth. Write and illustrate a story board with at least 3 parts. Explain why:

- day & night
- sunset
- leaves change
- sky is blue
- grass is green
- volcanos erupt
- thunder
- lightning
- ★ • birds fly ★
- fish swim
- bees sting
- moon changes
- snow
- rain
- tide
- people die & are born
- hurricanes
- many languages

1. The way it was

Birds used to fly so high. Birds used to be so happy and had no worries. The more people came about, the lower the birds flew. The population grew which meant the pollution grew also. Back when the earth was clean and provided just enough for the bird's to be happy and to fly high.

2. How it came to be

The birds got "sadder" as the pollution grew. If you trash their area, how will it make them stay happy? It's like if our world was all trash/pollution, we wouldn't be as happy as we were when it was clean and fresh. We wouldn't be as happy as we were when we went to work, or when we met our friends or family.

3. The way it is

The birds don't fly as high as they used to. They don't fly as far as they used to either. They're distracted by the pollution and don't get enough energy as they used to get. Maybe one day people will appreciate the earth a little more.